Breast Cancer is the most fatal health issue for Black Women.

Black Women have a 31% breast cancer mortality rate— the highest of any U.S. racial or ethnic group. (Breast Cancer Prevention Partners)

Black Women are 42% more likely to die of breast cancer. (Breast Cancer Prevention Partners)

Black Women are 42% more likely to die of breast cancer. (Breast Cancer Prevention Partners)

Black Women have a 2.3 times higher odds of being diagnosed with Triple-Negative Breast cancer. Among women who were diagnosed with breast cancer, those diagnosed at late stages were 69% more likely to have triple-negative cancer than other types.

The odds of advanced (stage III/IV) disease versus stage I disease among Black Women were almost 4 times those of White Women. (NIH)

Black Women have a 2.3 times higher odds of being diagnosed with Triple-Negative Breast cancer. Among women who were diagnosed with breast cancer, those diagnosed at late stages were 69% more likely to have triple-negative cancer than other types.

Black Women account for 12.5% of all new breast cancer cases and 15.5% of all breast cancer deaths. (ACS)

5-Year Survival is 81% for Black Women vs 91% for White Women. (ACS)

Black Women fear a cancer diagnosis and often avoid screening. (NIH)